Quiz Generation

The image displays three sequential screenshots of a web application for generating quizzes, each highlighting a specific error state with red text and arrows pointing to the relevant UI elements.

Screenshot 1: Please Enter a Topic Error

The interface shows a text input field with the placeholder text "Type topic to create quiz about here" and a "Generate Quiz" button. The error message "Error: Please enter a topic" is displayed in red. An arrow points from the error message to the text input field. A red-bordered box contains the following text:

Please Enter a Topic Error
Error caused by not entering anything and pressing 'Generate Quiz' button. To resolve issue, enter at least 1 character into the text box before pressing 'Generate Quiz'.

Error: Please enter a topic

Screenshot 2: Not All Questions Answered Error

The interface shows the text input field now containing the word "dogs". The error message "Error: Not all questions answered" is displayed in red. An arrow points from the error message to the bottom of the text input field. A red-bordered box contains the following text:

Not All Questions Answered Error
Error caused by not answering at least 1 question and pressing 'Submit' button. To resolve issue, answer all 10 quiz questions then press 'Submit' button.

Error: Not all questions answered

Screenshot 3: Quiz Already Submitted Error

The interface shows the text input field still containing "dogs". Below the input field, the text "Score: 0/10" is displayed in large, bold black font. The error message "Error: Quiz already submitted. Please create a new one" is displayed in red. An arrow points from the error message to the "Score: 0/10" text. A red-bordered box contains the following text:

Quiz Already Submitted Error
Error caused by trying to resubmit a quiz that has already been submitted. To resolve issue, generate a new quiz.

Error: Quiz already submitted. Please create a new one
